Fund managers' report

Market review

The MSCI India Index was flat in sterling terms in November, but outperformed global and regional peers. From a sector perspective, information technology and energy were the best performers while real estate and utilities were among the worst. Market sentiment was driven by several factors, including optimism around an India-US trade deal, better-than-expected earnings for the September quarter despite global headwinds, and an improving macroeconomic environment.

Talks are ongoing between Indian and US officials for a bilateral trade agreement, made complicated by the recent US tariffs on Indian goods while Washington sought to increase market access for American products in India.

On the domestic front, India's September quarter gross domestic product growth accelerated to 8.2% year-on-year, which beat the market's consensus estimate and was higher than the 5.6% print a year ago. Inflation remained low, with the Consumer Price Index provisionally falling to a record level of 0.25% in October, partly due to declining food prices. At its December policy meeting, the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) further cut the policy reporate by 25 basis points (bps) to 5.25% and introduced additional liquidity measures. This came despite the Indian rupee depreciating in November against the US dollar.

Other indicators also showed signs of improvement, such as credit growth, a pickup in industrial production and an above-normal monsoon.

The Indian government pushed through sweeping labour reforms aimed at improving the ease of doing business and raising the level of protection offered to workers across the job market. Attempts to reform India's byzantine labour laws were frequently met with political resistance. Elsewhere, Prime Minister

Narendra Modi's ruling coalition earned a landslide victory at the local election in India's third-most populous state, Bihar.

Portfolio changes

We added Time Technoplast, the world's largest manufacturer of large-size plastic drums with over half of the market share in India. The company has a diversified portfolio of polymer and composite products, with customers across a range of end markets that are underpinned by structural tailwinds tied to India's ongoing industrial expansion. It generates healthy margins and returns, maintains a net cash balance sheet and is expected to grow at double digit rates over the coming years.

We also bought IndiGrid Infrastructure Trust, India's first power-sector infrastructure investment trust. IndiGrid's portfolio comprises acquisitions and greenfield projects as well as renewable power generation and storage, while its management team has a good execution track record. India is expected to see strong per capita growth in electricity demand over the next 15 years, leading to strong demand for additional generating capacity that should provide a tailwind to power companies.

Conversely, we exited ABB India for better opportunities elsewhere.

Outlook

India's long-term structural growth story remains intact, but the stock market has faced significant pressure this year due to macro and tariff-related headwinds, muted earnings growth and limited exposure to the artificial intelligence capex theme dominating global markets.

Fiscal and monetary policies have been supportive, aimed at boosting domestic demand and sectoral growth: the government cut income tax early in the year, simplified the GST structure in September, and passed key labour reforms in November. The RBI reduced rates by 125bps this year.

Recent corporate earnings have exceeded expectations and are set for a potential rebound. Capex is expanding beyond traditional infrastructure into areas like energy transition, defence, data centres, semiconductors and other strategic sectors positioning India as a global manufacturing and tech hub. Meanwhile, officials are negotiating with Washington to reverse 50% tariffs on Indian goods exports. Any resolution could trigger a re-rating in Indian equities. Elsewhere, valuations remain at a premium, though the gap with other emerging markets has narrowed.

From a stock picking perspective, we are still finding pockets of good growth and quality across various sectors and sub-sectors. While market conditions remain fluid, we believe the Fund's emphasis on quality holdings should help mitigate downside risk and contribute to lower volatility over time. Our relatively defensive positions are well-placed should profit-taking emerge, and we believe any potential correction in their share prices could present attractive entry points, depending on broader market dynamics.

The risks outlined overleaf relating to gearing, warrants, emerging markets, small companies and exchange rate movements are particularly relevant to this trust but should be read in conjunction with all warnings and comments given. Important information overleaf

Important Information

 $The \, Statement \, of \, Operating \, Expenses \, is \, designed \, to \, help \, investors \, understand \, the \, impact \, of \, operating \, expenses \, on \, financial \, performance.$

 $Operating \ expenses \ are \ NOT \ deducted \ from \ the \ value \ of \ an \ investor's \ shareholding, \ which \ is \ derived \ from \ the \ share \ price.$

The market value (share price) of all publicly traded companies reflects a wide range of factors, including the estimated impact of operating expenses on future financial performance.

The market value of an investment trust may diverge materially, both positively and negatively, from the reported net asset value.

Important information

Risk factors you should consider prior to investing:

- The value of investments, and the income from them, can go down as well as up and investors may get back less than the amount invested.
- Past performance is not a guide to future results.
- · Investment in the Company may not be appropriate for investors who plan to withdraw their money within 5 years.
- The Company may borrow to finance further investment (gearing). The use of gearing is likely to lead to volatility in the Net Asset Value (NAV) meaning that any movement in the value of the company's assets will result in a magnified movement in the NAV.
- The Company may accumulate investment positions which represent more than normal trading volumes which may make it difficult to realise investments and may lead to volatility in the market price of the Company's shares.
- · The Company may charge expenses to capital which may erode the capital value of the investment.
- · Movements in exchange rates will impact on both the level of income received and the capital value of your investment.
- · There is no guarantee that the market price of the Company's shares will fully reflect their underlying Net Asset Value.
- As with all stock exchange investments the value of the Company's shares purchased will immediately fall by the difference between the buying and selling prices, the bid-offer spread. If trading volumes fall, the bid-offer spread can widen.
- The Company invests in emerging markets which tend to be more volatile than mature markets and the value of your investment could move sharply up or down.
- Yields are estimated figures and may fluctuate, there are no guarantees that future dividends will match or exceed historic dividends and certain investors may be subject to further tax on dividends.
